CIRCUS HERE TODAY

The circus is in town, bringing a world of sights to ravenous-eyed youngsters. The Barnum & Bailey circus arrived this morning from Norfolk, where a matinee performance was given yesterday. Four special trains of 35 cars were required to transport the circus belongings, and the work of detraining was accomplished with half the bother of the average May day moving.

The first thing on the circus program will be the parade of this morning, scheduled to leave the grounds in Colorado and Yampa streets at 11 o'clock and pass over the usual downtown streets. In a sense, the parade will be in the nature of a huge moving horse fair, over 500 head of horses being in line, ranging from cleanlimbed thoroughbreds to sturdy Normans, Hydesdals and Percherons.

There will be five bands to enrich the line of march, with martial melody and the strident cadence will bring to the rear, as in all well-regulated circus parades.

Then there will be a fine display of animals in open cages, and two caravans of camels, together with a long ring of "bulls" as the elephants are termed, in the circus vernacular.

The big spectacle which opens the show, called "Circus," is an adaptation of an episode in the history of Egypt's beautiful queen. It is the story of Marc Antony and Cleopatra, and is given with a brave display of horses, chariots, costumes, four women, hardly soldiers and glittering grandeur.

In pantomime is shown the entrance of the great Roman captain into Alexandria, a conqueror, his yielding to the will of the temptress, and his final case on his own sword, when Cleopatra's avenging legions surround the city.

The costumes, properties and everything entering into the production are historically correct, and the story is told by means of great ensembles and stage pictures, with appropriate music.

The games, fete and ballets devised by Cleopatra for the amusement of Antony are produced in an elaborate manner, the ballet of dancing girls having been especially drilled by Cleopatra herself. The Metropolitan Opera house. It is a classical production throughout, and is only one of the best offerings of this season. The show, with the circus proper, there are many many novelties. Miss

May Wirth, the little Australian bareback rider, is one of the season's dictators. She whirls in the air as if that were the only way in which to ride a horse, and when she undertakes a man's work and leaps from the ring to the horse's back, coming to standing, she simply flies up there, like a great white egret. It is a genuine egg-thing, as she does it, to turn upon her back and backward somersaults upon her mount, and her grace in their accomplishment goes beyond words to describe. The mikado's royal troupe of athletes are another new importation.

With their exhibitions of wrestling and ju jitsu. The way they bang one another around is a revelation as to the real possibilities of a "rough house."

Three men and two women of the troupe will give expert demonstrations of ju jitsu, the Japanese national art of self-defense. Kate Sandvina, the female Hercules, and the Borneo Rockers, Switzerland's strongest men, will be seen in unusual feats of strength

one of the latter engaging an elephant in a pulling match. Harry Mooney has taught his elephant charges some new tricks, and the elephant ball game will cause all eyes to pop wide open.

Then the trained animal displays will include baboons, seals, dogs, spee-ries, etc., who have been trained to do all manner of interesting things.

The aerial acrobatic and equilibrist numbers will present the foremost expects-most of them making their first appearance in America. The most remarkable will be in the person of La Belle

Victoria, who does amazing things upon a slender steel wire, high in the air, and without the use of a balancing medium.

Among the riding acts the Seabert

Sisters and Scott Wirth are now and have "released" in brief, it is a perfect circus, and novelty is the keynote of it all. Of course, there are always 50 or more of them, and they indulge in all kinds of fun. They kick "Teddy" out around the ring, burlesque the suffragettes, and the performers in fact, do everything to make merry. The minaggle has been enlarged, and offers

as a special attraction a baby giraffe, born last January.

In brief, the Barnum & Bailey circus this year is designated as a perfect circus, with novelty as the keynote of it all. Throughout the day, tickets may be bought at the Robinson Drug company, at no advance in price.

THE PETITIONS ARE COMPLETED

THE voters of this city responded handsomely to the appeal of The Gazette for signatures to the Stewart-Vincent-Griffith petitions.

Colorado Springs voters, unaided, have furnished more than twice the number of signatures required for filing the petitions. In addition, other portions of the State have contributed generously.

The spontaneous expression of the voters in signing the petitions at The Gazette office was in striking contrast to the acid test primaries, and to the cut-and-dried character of the county and district assemblies.

All political party affiliations were represented in the voluntary expression of confidence in the anti-Guggenheim petition candidates. There was no acid test; there was no coercion.

The Gazette takes this opportunity to thank the voters for their expression of confidence.

NEW AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS

THE Department of Agriculture keeps a force of trained botanists continually on the outlook for new plants that promise to add variety to the diet of the vegetarian or would make the farms of the United States more productive. These botanists are at once scouts, detectives and globe-trotters. They roam over the entire surface of the earth hunting for fruits and vegetables that are especially succulent, or draught resistant, or suitable to a freezing climate.

Quarterly bulletins are issued by the Agricultural Department giving description of the new plants that appear to be of value to the United States. The last bulletin contains an inventory of contributions from Siberia, Palestine, South Africa, British West Africa, Manchuria, Kashgar, and the Philippines.

One of the scout-botanists has been on an exploration trip across the mountain range between Manchuria and China. Another has been doing his plant detective work in the Philippines. They have discovered a new berry, the akala, over 30 varieties of alfalfa and 14 of clover. There are also 27 new varieties of rice, two novel forms of potato, new oranges, sofa beans, persimmons and lemons. A new fruit, the annona, like the apple, comes from Brazil; passion fruit comes from the Society Islands; new varieties of peanuts, cotton, bananas, melons, garden flowers, poplars and willows, wheat, barley and oats, asparagus, grapes and sweet potatoes are enumerated. All of these are to be tried out in the experiment stations of the United States.

The most recent quarterly bulletin extends the inventory of new plants from number 30-462 to number 31,370. This pioneer work of the Department of Agriculture is of the highest importance. The plants that are being collected and tried out may prove to be of the greatest economic value to this country. Scientific agriculture has already done much valuable work; it promises to do more.

LIQUOR VERSUS EFFICIENCY

THE recent order issued by the management of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad to the employees of the transportation service forbidding the use of intoxicants while on or off duty is a significant step forward towards the final extermination of the liquor evil. This order was given out after a serious accident had been traced to an employee who had been found drunk while on duty. It is, probably, but the beginning of similar orders to be issued by all the railroads and employers of large numbers of men upon whom depend the safety and welfare of the public.

Nobody will deny that the liquor traffic must eventually be driven out of politics and that drinkers of intoxicants must be eliminated from positions of responsibility for human life. However, there are many methods being used to bring about these ends. Some people offer moral and ethical reasons and some are influenced by religious and personal reasons. Many motives play their part and are a power for temperance. Now an economic reason will be of influence. A great corporation, employing thousands of men, finds that intoxicants make its employees unreliable and a menace. Cold blooded financial reasons are behind the recent order issued by the D. L. & W. It is time for the great liquor interests to realize that the end of their era of domination is in sight. Nothing better could happen to raise the standard of citizenship and reduce the suffering and crime in this country today than that all great railroads and corporations which employ large numbers of men should issue orders that no man in their employ can drink intoxicating liquor either on or off duty. The liquor problem has become economic. It is being treated as a cause of inefficiency and consequent loss in business. A great railroad has decided that drinkers are not profitable employees.

MANITOU PARK.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
For the benefit of any who may contemplate a visit to Manitou park, we would say that we have found it very comfortable under the new management, who show a constant desire to please, consideration for guests and a general attempt to make this ideal spot as attractive as possible. Good food added to this makes the park a most desirable place in which to spend a few weeks, and thanks are due to those who have made every effort to make it so.

TWO RESIDENT GUESTS.

Colorado Springs, July 31.

THE ROADS.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
The writer has visited the principal resorts of our country and is reluctant to knock, but must confess his disappointment in the Pike's Peak region—not with the marvelous nature has endowed it with, but with conditions governed by the people. Your advertising appeals strongly to the tourist and recites good roads. On arrival we find that no other town charges us anything like the fees you exact for a short stay, then the longer we remain, the more robbery. Ask not only the tourist, but the resident here who will investigate the shuffling autos in other cities. The recent ordinance prohibiting autos standing on any paved street without a permit under is not found in any other city, and the country over not one auto in a thousand is equipped to meet it, nor can it be without quite an expense.

Anyone of sense to observe horses on the street and machines would see the absurdity of this law. New a word as to what we and your citizens get after paying a big price. Let anyone cross to the west side and look at the bridges, and he will not blush for Arkansas as behind the times. It is a fact that most of the country roads will average better than the city streets. Would anyone travel the Canon City road, then cover either road to Manitou, and not say the former was far superior? Glance at parts of Washington avenue where stones protrude for want of a little gravel to cover them; ride out East Boulder street to near the new Bethel hospital and turn around where the road is washed down from street car tracks so as to make it hazardous at low speed; again notice, near the entrance to the Bethel hospital where many physicians enter, as well as carriages, the great hole which I understand has been there for months.

You have ideal material on every hand and every condition favorable; there are funds and more than enough for all required is gravel dumped in and the traffic will do the rest. An illustration of this is to be seen on Washington avenue, just east of Colorado City, where a few loads were dumped and it has withstood the rains nicely; and is a real road for a few blocks. My attention was called to these facts last season by several people from my state who vowed not to come here again. Now, no one will dispute the fact that we have had, in the past two months not one in ten of the number of tourists we had last year. It is a fact that the towns of a fourth year population surpass you. Can you take these chances?
H. B. HARVEY.
Colorado Springs, July 31.

TO TEACH THE HANDS AS WELL AS THE BRAIN.

From the New York American.
Superintendent Maxwell, in discussing the needs of the public schools of New York, declares that the first essential is to extend manual training to every grade in the system.

He believes that from the moment the child enters school that child should be taught to use its hands and its brain, and that the rudiments that go to making up the training in a trade should be taught. The school workshop, the school kitchen and the school playground, is the way Dr. Maxwell places them in importance.

This call for practical education of the child is the most hopeful sign that has come from the department of education in many years. The A. B. C. and the three R's are, of course, necessary, but how much wiser it is to make the groundwork of all education of all children in this great city one that will teach them self-help and the pleasure of real work.

FEDERAL MEAT INSPECTION.

From the Journal of the American Medical Association.
A few months ago attention was called to the fact that the boric trust and other interests unfriendly to Dr. Wiley, in criticizing the ex-chief of the bureau of chemistry, took occasion to laud the bureau of animal industry. The latter bureau has charge of examining the meat supplies of the country, and the argument of the anti-Wiley forces was that, while the bureau of chemistry has had a somewhat stormy career, the bureau of animal industry was conducted "without friction." It was suggested at the time that any department of government service, supposed to be operated in the interest of the public, which got along "without friction" was to be viewed with suspicion. Recent developments seem to point to the source of the lubricant which has permitted the bureau of animal industry to operate without any friction developing between themselves and the vested interests concerned. The bureau of chemistry has, it is true, been much criticized in the last four or five years—but the criticisms have come not from the consumers, but from the manufacturers. Now the bureau of animal industry is coming in for its share of criticism, but with this difference, that representatives of the consumers and not of the packing houses are the critics. These have been made by competent and unbiased observers that the federal meat inspectors are administered in the interest of the public rather than for the protection of the public, and that meat that would not be accepted at the ports of entry in Europe is passed by the federal meat inspectors for home consumption. As might be expected, the investigation of the bureau of animal industry exhibits Secretary Wilson and Solicitor McCabe "running to form" as special predators for the "interests." The enormous harm done to the health of the American people through the maladministration of the food-and-drugs act and the federal meat inspection law can hardly be estimated. The responsibility for it rests on Secretary Wilson and Solicitor McCabe, whose incompetence—or something else—has rendered the enforcement of these laws a joke.

NOT FOR TODAY ONLY.

From the Kansas City Star.
The Progressive party movement is an independent movement. It is the people organizing to replace the old parties, whose usefulness has succumbed to the influence of special interests and the domination of big business machines.

Mr. Roosevelt demonstrates again his complete understanding of, and sympathy with, the people's political purposes in refusing to sanction alliances of the Progressive party, under his leadership, with one old party against the other.

"I make my appeal to all Progressives, no matter what their past affiliations may be," he said.

This Progressive movement is no mere party bolt. As Mr. Roosevelt has repeatedly declared, it is not to win temporary advance for any one man, or any one party. It is to establish the rule of the people without regard to sections or to traditional party lines. And it is to establish that rule of the people, not alone for this year or the next, but for the succeeding years.

Wherever the fight has been made already and the people's rule established, as in Kansas and California, there the people's organization may rightly, and will inevitably, ally itself with the Progressive movement—because it is the natural thing and the only thing it can do. But to seek entangling alliances with machines, simply to get after votes for possible temporary advantage in a given locality, and to indicate a distinction between Democrats and Republicans on the new movement—that is not for the Roosevelt leadership; that is not the meaning or the spirit of the progress of the people to a genuine democracy.

IMMIGRATION OF MINORS.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.
Of the 878,887 immigrants arriving in the United States last year, 22,349 were debarred and 2,770 were deported. In 1910 the number of immigrants was 1,041,570, of whom 24,370 were debarred and 2,695 were deported. This total immigration began with the year 1823 is nearly 23,000,000. Of those who entered this country at all ports last year, 45,023 came through Philadelphia.

The figures give some idea of the importance of the decision of Secretary Nagel in the case of little Rivke Polayes of Russia, aged 11½ years. The child is an imbecile, the daughter of a naturalized citizen, Jacob Polayes, of New Haven, Conn. Her admission was resisted by the public health and marine hospital service because of her mental deficiency. Secretary Nagel's decision abolishes any differentiation between minor children, when the father has been naturalized and residence abroad has been definitely relinquished. It is held that in the case of a minor, when the father has been naturalized, constructive residence in the father's household begins as soon as the child has embarked.

This reversal of the previous policy of the government, where all minors arriving in this country subsequent to the date of the father's naturalization were compelled to pass the immigration tests, calls for increased vigilance on the part of the immigration authorities to make sure of the destination of the arriving minor, and of the ability of the parent to make adequate provision against the child becoming eventually dependent upon the state for support. Otherwise, the relaxation of the conditions that hedge about admission may lead to the gravest abuses. The beneficial effect of the new ruling, will be to reunite families that have hitherto been kept apart by the mental or physical disability of certain members. The figures of immigration for the current year are certain to show an increase, but it is of vital import to the welfare of our country that the gain in numbers shall not be at the expense of the quality of the infiltration.

One Kind of Begging

By RUTH CAMERON.

The similarity of asking for money and asking for the use of time and talents which are worth money to their possessors, is something of which many people do not seem to be cognizant.

Mrs. L. is the fortunate possessor of a very sweet and well trained voice. Before her marriage she was trained in the use of this talent rather than in the household arts. Consequently she is glad that, although she is not a very economical-household manager, she is able to help out her husband's rather slender income by singing. Although she is extremely busy in her home she finds time to hold a church position and has also put her name in an agency which occasionally brings her chances to sing at some entertainment. For this work she gets from five to ten dollars a night.

Now Mrs. L.'s friends, who know that the family finances are none too flourishing, would never think of asking her to give five or ten dollars to some pet project, and yet they are perpetually asking her to sing for them, gratis, on this or that occasion. And what else does that mean than asking her to give five or ten dollars' worth of time and talent?

Why is it, I wonder, that artistic talents, that is, the ability to sing, or play some instrument, or read well, or entertain in any other way, are thus regarded by people's friends as public property? We would never think of asking the clever dressmaker to give several dollars' worth of time toward making a gown to be sold at the Fair for the Benefit of the Somethings of Something. And yet Mrs. L. sang twice at that fair, and two other artists who are dependent for their bread and butter on their talents, were held up by friends to give their services.

"But," you say, "just think what a very few minutes it takes Mrs. L. and those others to sing or play. That isn't asking very much, is it?"

Ah, my friend, you forget something. Mrs. L. and the other artists did not give merely the 10 or 15 minutes of time and the modicum of effort which were represented by the actual performance. They gave the hours of preparation required, by even the most skillful performers to appear in entertainment, and furthermore they were giving a due share and proportion of the lifetime investment of effort and time and money which they had put into cultivating their talents.

To be sure, there are some artists who like nothing better than the opportunity to appear in public, who ask no other remuneration than a goodly meed of flattery and the joy of being the "exposure of neighboring eyes." I don't doubt that there are even some who would be glad to pay for this pleasure if that were allowable.

But that is another story. Mrs. L. does not belong to this class. Many of the artists who are continually hounded by thoughtless friends do not belong to it.

So be a little less glib in your assurances to the committee that you are sure you can get Mr. A. to read, or Mrs. B. to sing, or Miss C. to play the violin at the entertainment. Perhaps you can hold them up by the first point of your importance. But

MORMONS AIDING REFUGEES

Southern District Members to Bring Women and Children From El Paso to Utah or Arizona

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 31.—Joseph E. Robinson, president of the southern district of the Mormon church comprising California, Arizona and New Mexico, left El Paso last night with funds sufficient, he stated, to bring all of the women and children among the Mormon refugees from Mexico now in that city to the settlements in this state, Utah, or Arizona, according to their wishes.

Joseph E. Smith, head of the church, who is spending his vacation at one of the beaches, declared the church would do all in its power to aid their methodology.

"We are sending financial aid to those now in El Paso," said Mr. Smith, "and will continue to do so. These unfortunate are entitled to aid from the church. The main thing, however, is to get them away from the danger zone."

"When a stable government is re-established in Mexico, a claim for damages will be presented. Before the Mormons were driven out of Mexico there were between 3,500 and 4,000 in the settlements on the desert which they had built up and greatly improved."

BARTHOLOTT ATTACKS COLONEL ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Representative Bartholdt, Republican, of Missouri, made an attack upon Colonel Roosevelt in the house today in a speech defending President Taft's nomination. Col. Roosevelt, he said, had gone to the Chicago convention "when he was no longer at heart a Republican."

Mr. Bartholdt continued: "In the light of later events we know that Mr. Roosevelt never intended to abide the decision of the convention except he himself would be the nominee. Yes, and we can go further and say when he made up his mind to violate all American traditions of political decency and go to Chicago, at that very moment he knew he was beaten, but expected to save the day by personal appeals to the delegates through flattery, promises, coercion or threats."

"But he came with treachery in his heart and fully determined to bolt if the negotiations went against him. The cry of fraud was premeditated and the flagrant accusation 'thieves!' which he shouted at his audience on his entrance into Chicago was the battery of the new party. There could be no other, for principles and policies were forgotten and he himself was nominated he would have made the race on any old platform with his frantic followers shouting 'hoanah!'"

"If the national committee had heeded the injunction, 'thou shalt not steal except for me,' all would have been well; but its determination to do its work conscientiously brought all the prearranged plans of party treachery to full fruition."

"The new party was born, but is it not bound to be still-born? Can a party live, or ought it to live, when its birthright is a lie?"

KING GEORGE PRESENTS CUP TO N. Y. YACHT CLUB

NEW YORK, July 31.—Announcement is made by the New York Yacht club that King George V. has presented a cup to the club to be known as the King's cup. It is to take the place of the cup presented by the late King Edward VII. The club has been asked to retain the King Edward trophy as a memorial to the late ruler of Great Britain.

The same conditions will apply to the new cup as governed the old one, the chief provisions being that the trophy shall be held forever by the New York Yacht club, to be sailed for annually, preferably off Newport, during the cruise of the New York Yacht club.

Any yacht belonging to any yacht club in the United States in good standing is eligible to enter for the races. The name of each yacht winning it and the name of her owner will be inscribed upon the cup, and each winning yacht will receive a suitable medal to commemorate her victory.

NEW REVOLUTION HAS STARTED IN NICARAGUA

WASHINGTON, July 31.—A new revolution has broken out in Nicaragua. Captain Terhune of the gunboat Annapolis at San Juan Del Sur today radiographed the navy department that Managua, the capital, was attacked on July 29, and is now cut off from communication.

General Menz led the uprising on July 29, when his resignation as minister of war was demanded by President Diaz. Menz now is said to occupy the small forts near Managua. Granada is in possession of Menz's son, whom he recently appointed commander-in-chief. About 800 troops are there. Leading liberals all over the country have been thrown into prison. Captain Terhune's representatives say. The situation is said to be aggravated by poor crops. Telegraph wires have been cut by the revolutionaries.

News of the outbreak came from the United States consul at Corinto.

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 31.—Nicaragua has been on the verge of revolution for several months and Associated Press dispatches indicated that the attack on the government would be not long delayed. All economic conditions prevail, crops have failed and for the first time in the history of the United States natives in the interior have been dying of starvation.

THE MASKIN LETTER THE ECONOMICS OF FASHION VI CLOTHING THE FEET.

By FREDERIC J. MASKIN.

Never before has so much attention been paid to the proper dressing of the feet. Variety in footwear during the present season seemingly leaves little more to be devised. The styles in shoes are as changeable as any other article of human apparel and they do not all make for either comfort or appearance, although there has been some improvement in this respect during the past year. The fact that for several years it was almost impossible to secure a good looking shoe for women which had a firm sole unless it had a really high heel, led to the wearing of boys' shoes by many women, especially those of athletic or pedestrian tastes. This has caused the manufacture of the mannish shoe for women which is similar to a boy's shoe in appearance but it is a little lighter in weight. There still are a large number of women, however, especially college girls, who refuse to look at a walking shoe made for women and insist upon being provided with the regular boys' stock. Including the strap at the back which somewhere seems to give the distinctive masculine touch. Low heels for outing shoes are more numerous this year than for some years past and a few shoes are now shown without any heels.

While the regular stock slippers and shoes made in the great factories are dainty and exclusive in their design, each season there is an increasing number of people for whom shoes are made to order. This work is not always done in the little hand shops, either. In fact there are fewer of these than formerly, but the measurements of the foot are taken carefully by the fitter in the store, and the shoe is made on a last which is made from the correct measurements. These lasts are made to order for the shoe which the customer's shoe can be made to order from the proper last at only a trifle more expense than at the regular stock. In this way the particular women frequently have their shoes made from the same material as their gowns and men can give orders for dress shoes and outing shoes from the same last knowing that they will be equally satisfactory in fit.

American Producers Lead.
There is a close connection between the shoe and stocking in the average mind, and it is interesting to know that America leads the world in both productions both as regards quality and quantity. During the year three important patents have been granted for the improvement of stocking, knitting machinery. One is a knitting process by which silk may be knit over cotton, or over another color of silk, thus making many elaborate effects comparable to a seamless plated heel and toe and the third is a machine which knits the ribbed top of the stocking with a single double welt instead of a ragged edge. These three inventions have made possible trade ventures which have quite exceeded those of the German stocking manufacturers, the closest rivals America has had in the hosiery trade of the world.

Wood Pulp More Economical.
Cotton pulp is used in some of the European factories and has been experimented with in the United States, but wood pulp seems more suitable and at the same time more economical, since waste wood products can be used in this way. At present, fully 20 per cent of the world's consumption of silk yarn is the artificial product and this percentage is increasing.

Many millions of dollars have been expended in Europe and the United States in the production of artificial silks. The first American corporation to exploit viscose silks spent over a million dollars without any result. Now, however, the principles involved are fully understood and each year will add to the economy of its production which has brought down the

POST CARDS TODAY
ADVERTISE CARNIVAL

From 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. today the Chamber of Commerce will give out post cards to all who call for them at its rooms on the fourth floor of the Chamber. The cards are free, and each caller will be given as many as he can use. The picture on the cards was taken last year during the summer carnival, and shows the Indians in their ceremonies in the Garden of the Gods. In the space devoted to the message this paragraph is printed:

"This is to remind you that the Colorado Springs summer carnival is scheduled this year for August 27, 28 and 29. Don't forget the promise you made yourself last year to come to America's scenic playground and enjoy this week of fun at the same time visiting all of the wonderful attractions of the Pikes Peak region. You couldn't pick a better time for your vacation just at the beginning of the Indian summer, the most delightful time of the year in Colorado. Before you lay down this card, drop a special to the Chamber of Commerce, Desk A and get a program of the big event.
There will be low rates and you can be sure of a good time."

The Indians will attend Shan Kive again this year. Last year they were here for one week, and enjoyed themselves every minute. One of the automobiles in the big parade was filled with them, and they did more riding than anyone else there. Buckskin Charley was finally captured in sitting in the seat of the aeroplane when he was assured that it would not start, but he wouldn't have gotten aboard under any other conditions, even if he had understood that the machine could not carry two at this altitude.

Hay fever and asthma make August a month of intense suffering to many people. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound gives prompt ease and relief, and is soothing and healing to the inflamed membranes. Wm. M. Meredith, N.
Searsport, Me., says: "I suffered with asthma for many years, and have used many a doctor's prescription without avail. A few doses of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound relieved me, and less than a bottle caused a complete cure. I am glad to let others know what Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has done for me." Refuse substitutes. The Robinson Drug Co.

BURLINGTON ADVERTISING COLO. CONVENTION STATE

The Burlington railroad has sent to the local Chamber of Commerce a copy of the advertising which will be published in eastern papers along the Burlington system during the first week in August. The advertisement is written in the form of a news story, about a third of a column long, and is devoted entirely to boosting Colorado as the place for vacations. Special attention is given to the Shan Kive to be held here this month.

INTERIOR DECORATING
AT PRINCESS THEATER
ATTRACTS ATTENTION

One of the most noticeable features of the new Princess Theater which has compelled the admiration of the thousands of people who have visited the new picture house since its opening, is the exquisite color effects and interior decorating. The effect is highly artistic, being the equal of any in the west, and deserves great credit upon Mr. H. E.
Dinkett, the interior decorator, 210 N.
Institute, who has had charge of the work.

The secretary of the Horticultural society is at his room in the court house every day.

URGES REPRESENTATION AT NEW YORK EXHIBIT

E. J. Sexton, a traveling representative of the International Travel Exhibition association of New York, was in this city yesterday to urge the Chamber of Commerce to have a booth next year in the travel and vacation exhibition in the Grand Central Palace in New York. The exhibition is a collection of booths from all parts of the country, each booth giving a large panoramic view of the scenery to be advised. Denver and other cities in the state, as well as several of the western railroads, are said to be planning to enter the exhibition.

You are going to get left if you don't look out and get those entries in for the flower show.

CAMP MEETING BEGINS TODAY

The Pikes Peak Holiness camp meeting begins tonight on West Dale street. Evangelist A. G. Jeffries of Panola, Tex., and the Rev. T. G. Rogers and Lula B. Rogers of Los Angeles, Cal., will be here. Many ministers, evangelists and rescue workers also will be in attendance. Services will be held morning, afternoon and evening each day. Entertainment on grounds.

CONCERT FOR TEACHERS

As a feature of the closing week of the Teachers institute of the Fifth normal district, a concert was given last night in the auditorium of the local High school. The concert was given under the direction of Miss Harriet Little, instructor in music at the institute, assisted by other members of the faculty.

JULY NEARLY EQUALED THAT REST OF MONTH

Although last month appeared exceptionally rainy to residents of Colorado Springs, and a total of 2.66 inches of precipitation was recorded, according to the Colorado college weather bureau, this is nowhere near the record. In July, 1878, 6.07 inches was recorded, and many times in July during more recent years the precipitation exceeded that of last month. The maximum precipitation in 24 hours, last month was recorded on the fifteenth, when 1.5 of an inch fell, or nearly one-half the total for the entire month.

The maximum temperature was 85

"For $1 and other valuable considerations," Mrs. Grace Goodyear Potter of Broadmoor filed a deed in the county clerk's office yesterday transferring El Pomar, her beautiful Broadmoor residence, to her husband, Ashton Potter.
The El Pomar property is valued at about $175,000, and comprises in addition to the residence, more than seven acres of ground. The place, which is referred to as one of the most beautiful in this part of the country, is encumbered by a trust deed for $20,000. The deed was drawn May 24, 1911, a little more than a year following the marriage of Mrs. Depew to Colonel Potter.

NO ONE STRONGER THAN HIS STOMACH.

The celebrated Dr. Abernethy of London was firmly of the opinion that diseases of the stomach were the most prolific source of human ailments in general. A recent medical writer says: "every feeling, emotion and affection reports at the stomach (through the system of nerves) and the stomach is affected accordingly.
It is the vital center of the body." He continues: "so we may be said to live (through) the stomach." He goes on to show that the stomach is the vital center of the body. For weak stomachs and the consequent indigestion or dyspepsia, and the multitude of various diseases which result therefrom, no medicine can be better suited as a curative agent than

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

"Several months ago I suffered from a severe pain right under the breast-bone," writes Mrs. G. M. MUNKEN, of Corona, Calif. "I had suffered from it, off and on, for several years. I also suffered from heartburn, did not know what was the matter with me. I tried several medicines, but they did me no good. Finally I was told it was my liver. I did not dare to eat as it made me worse. Whenever I swallowed anything it seemed that I would fall to be hurt. I grew very thin and weak from not eating. I was told to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took five bottles of it, and could feel myself getting better from the first dose. I could eat a little without pain and grow stronger fast. Today I am strong and well and can do a big day's work with ease. Can eat everything and have put on flesh wonderfully. I will say to all sufferers write to Dr.
Pierce. He has my undying gratitude."

"THE PRINCE CHAP"

AT THE BURNS MONDAY

No playwright of recent years in America has built as much of fame for himself as Edward Peple, author of "The Prince Chap," the beautiful play of sentiment, romance and laughter that made such complete conquest of New York when Cyril Scott and Justina Wayne appeared as costars. As is well known, Mr. Peple also is the author of the recent big success, "The Little Rebel," in which Dustin and William Farnum were costars in New York and Chicago. He also wrote "The Call of the Cricket," in which Mabel Taliaferro starred for a full season in New York city and is the author of other successes such as "The Love Route," "Richard the Brazen," etc.

The fame of Mr. Peple, of course, is attributable chiefly to the fact that he is one of the most talented of America's playwrights. But a considerable measure of his prominence and popularity must be credited to the optimistic, the clean, wholesome and beautiful nature of the plays he writes. He is an author who does not believe one must dig in the mire or invade garish and vicious realms to find dramatic material. His plays are the sort that grip the interest, make honest nature sing with wholesome laughter and carry a message of appealing beauty to the heart of mankind. Mr. Peple has written many successes but none that can take precedence over his beautiful story of sacrifice, renunciation and romance, "The Prince Chap."

NOTES FROM THE BURNS

As good as a circus—
"Forty-five Minutes From Broadway."

Notwithstanding competition, tonight's sale is large.

That reminds us—Main 200 simply jingles in orders for the Saturday matinee.

Kid Burns says: "Husbands are changeable, but they should not be interchangeable."

Mary adds: "Keep your mouth shut, and you will not be sorry that you said it."

There are few playwrights who have the knack of saying the sprightly things accredited to George Urban.

The weather condition at The Burns is always just right. This is one theater that Mr. Weatherman cannot play tag with.

A pessimist is one who believes that every thing contains a worm.

"Forty-five Minutes From Broadway" is a four-ring circus of merriment and song and music.

"The Prince Chap" is a play of wholesome fun. The cast is excellently adapted to it.

Failure is often the vestibule of success, but don't enter the vestibule, says Preston Kendall.

The great crowd of Tuesday will be repeated on Saturday—just wait and see. It's the last chance in a matinee-way of "Forty-five Minutes."

"Jealousy is an acute inflammation of the affections," offers "Dicky" Carlyle.

When in doubt in an amusement way, come to The Burns, where you know in advance the attraction will be satisfactory in every way.

"ROSOM FRIEND OF BOWSER," AT THE OPERA HOUSE, OPENING TONIGHT

"High speed on a laughing track," is the way James Hawley described the attractiveness of "The Rosom Friend of Bowser," to a friend in a cafe last evening.

This sensational farce comedy opens at the Grand Opera house tonight, running for three days only, with the regular Saturday matinee at 2:30 p. m. At Saturday's matinee a pair of slippers will be given away in a very novel way. This will be known as the Cinderella matinee.

Laugh overleaps laugh, surprise follows surprise, and thrill chases thrill in the unfolding of the plot and story of "The Rosom Friend of Bowser."

This is truly a farce comedy which James Hawley and players "are famous" in offering as an entertainment to the theater-loving public of this city.

THE ROUND-UP.

Held on the Y-6 Ranch on the Big and Little Horse Creeks, Wyoming, at Savoy Theater.

Many of the customs which have heretofore obtained on the ranges of the far west of the United States are being marshaled to the past with arides attuned to the western march of civilization and later day commercial methods and the coming generations can only know them through the medium of life motion pictures.

Here and there throughout the great west perfect types of the old time ranchmen and cattle raisers still exist who adhere faithfully to the fast vanishing methods in their business which were in use during the time of their forefathers, and whose west acreage still makes necessary the branding of all their cattle and horses and the perpetuation of that wonderful annual event called "The Round-Up."

One of the most perfect specimens of this type to be found in the great west is today in Charles Irwin, whose ranch is located on the Big and Little Horse Creeks in Wyoming and who controls some 40,000 acres of grazing lands, and it was on this little western kingdom that the wonderful life motion pictures were taken today at the Savoy theater.

The pictures show you the men active in their preparations for the coming round-up, first the roping, killing and preparing of beef with which to supply the cowboys while in camp, then the loading of traps, bedding and all other necessary equipment needed to make them as comfortable as possible during the strenuous labors they are about to perform.

The great west holds many bucking branches of national renown and we show you Kid Moore holding the best known among them named "Teddy Brownie," while the next picture shows you the annually celebrated bucking "Stimmbay" in the hands of Clayton Danks. "Teddy Brownie" has the reputation of never having been successfully ridden and we shall have the pleasure of showing you several attempts to accomplish this impossible task.

In this picture you see the cowboys selecting and putting out of the herd such cattle as are desired for shipping to the market. There are about 1,500 head of cattle in this herd you see being driven to the trains for loading and it was during this drive that a stampede was averted only by the exercise of prompt measures, and this you will realize as you observe the excited actions of the cattle and the terrific speed at which they come thundering along.

The cowgirls, joining the campers at this time bring them an invitation to join in the fun, which they immediately accept, proving themselves to be just as good riders as their cowboy friends.

The scenes show you the branding of the calves and colts on Mr. Irwin's ranch.

The roping of wild horses is always interesting and we show you also the method used in breaking and training them.

The annual fair at Laramie, Wyoming, is always a most enjoyable event, at which scenes of early frontier life are enacted for the benefit of thousands of visitors who annually attend this affair from all parts of the world, and we show you our cowboys and cowgirls enjoying the fun after the strenuous work of the round-up.

Buildroding a steer is one of the most dangerous feats of cowboy life and consists of jumping from the back of a fast galloping horse to the horns of an equally fast moving steer, and with the hold thus secured bringing the steer to earth.

In all the world there is only one team of buffalo which has ever been broken to harness, and we here have the pleasure of showing you these animals not only being driven to harness, but also being ridden by the venture, some cowboys who get many hard falls from the backs of their awkward and untamed mounts.

The riding of bucking bronchos has ever been the greatest joy of cowboy life as well as the most fascinating accomplishment to the eyes of the tenderfoot, and we show many daring riders at the game of "Broncho Busting."

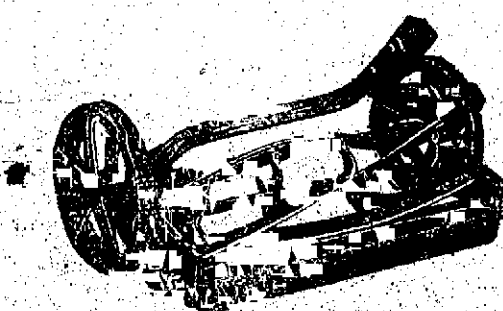

The wild horse race which is pictured is the most unique race man has ever devised. These wild horses are brought in right off the prairie and never in their lives saddled or bridled. Two cowboys are assigned to each horse, and when the word is given to start the race, the cowboys must bridle and saddle their respective horses, mount him and ride him around a half mile track in order to win this most extraordinary race.

THE ECONOMIC OF FASHION.
VI—CLOTHING THE FEET
By FREDERICK J. HASKIN.

tion so there is little doubt but that the future of artificial silk yarn is just in its infancy.

All of the artificial silks take the same dye stuffs as cotton and are readily dyed, the luster being brilliantly accentuated in certain shades. Care has to be taken while the silks are wet, as the filaments lose much of their strength while in this condition. The cellulose is hygroscopic and after absorbing a quantity of water it swells up so that its physical structure is much weakened. As soon as the yarn dries it is as strong as ever and the luster returns with its original brilliancy.

According to tests made by experts, the artificial silk thread when dry has almost double the strength of cotton thread of the same weight and considerably more than dye-weighted pure silk, although the raw silk as it comes from the cocoon has superior strength. This statement will explain why the cheap silk stockings wear so well and require less darning than the cotton articles. In this connection it should be stated that stockings made of artificial silk should never be ironed, if their appearance is to be preserved, as the heat from the iron causes the filaments to ball up and look rough and it also greatly lessens their durability.

ROUTINE BUSINESS UP

Automobile drivers who cater to tourists trade petitioned the city council yesterday either to reduce the amount of their license fee or increase the amount now paid by carriage drivers. At present the automobile man pay a license of $40 and the carriage drivers, $20.

The matter of adjusting both classes of license was threshed out last year, and city officials are not inclined to make any change in the fees at this time.

The Oldest Blood Disease

The most ancient history furnishes evidence that mankind suffered with Contagious Blood Poison. The disease has come down through all the ages and is to-day, as it has ever been, a scourge and blight upon humanity. The symptoms of Contagious Blood Poison are the same as in its earliest history, but its cure has now become an accomplished fact. S. S. S. is an antidote for the virus of Contagious Blood Poison, and cures it in all its forms and stages. A person who has been cured of Contagious Blood Poison by the use of S. S. S. need not fear a return of its symptoms at any future time. This great medicine checks the progress of the poison and gradually but surely all sores and eruptions heal, ulcerated mouth and throat pass away, the hair stops falling out, copper-colored spots fade away, and when the blood is thoroughly purified no sign of the disease is left. MARRIAGE LICENSES.—Marriage licenses were issued from the county clerk's office yesterday to John Arends and Mrs. Hendrika Kuperus, both of this city; and Irvin P. Jones, (Lanato, Colo.) and Margaret Laurie Phillips, Chilesco, Colo.

BOY SCOUTS.—A party of 25 boy scouts from St. Louis passed through this city yesterday morning over the Colorado Midland on their way to Skelton's ranch near Woodland Park. They will probably spend a month there.

MAY RECOVER.—Six-year-old Bernard Hahn, who was injured Saturday in a motorcycle accident, and was operated on Sunday in the hope of saving his life, improved so much yesterday that his chances of recovery are considered good.

EXAMINATION.—Under the direction of the United States civil service commission, an examination will be held August 27 at the local postoffice for the position of stenographer and typewriter for the field service.

LYNN S. ATKINSON'S determination to dispose of his Colorado Springs property is evidenced by his ad on this page, in which he guarantees 10 per cent income upon an investment in which the security is absolutely good.

COLLISION.—In a collision at the corner of Tejon and Kiowa streets yesterday morning between a bicycle and an automobile, the bicycle came out the worse to the extent of a badly smashed front rim. The bicycle was ridden by a colored man. No one was injured, and the names of the parties involved were not learned.

ARCHAEOLOGICAL INSTITUTE.—The closing exercises of the Summer School will take place in Palmer hall, this morning, August 1, from 10 to 12 o'clock. At 10 o'clock Prof. Wilson, Roman Painter, 16-17 o'clock, Prof. Ferrell, The Archaeological Institute, Schools and Excavations in Foreign Lands, 11-12 o'clock.—The Summer School for July, 1912.

DRAWING PLANS.—Architect T. F. Barber of this city is drawing plans for the new $40,000 Y. M. C. A. building to be erected in Canon City. He expects to have them completed within a few days, and the Canon City association will ask for bids immediately afterward. Barber also has in hand plans for an addition to the First Presbyterian church building in Salida.
